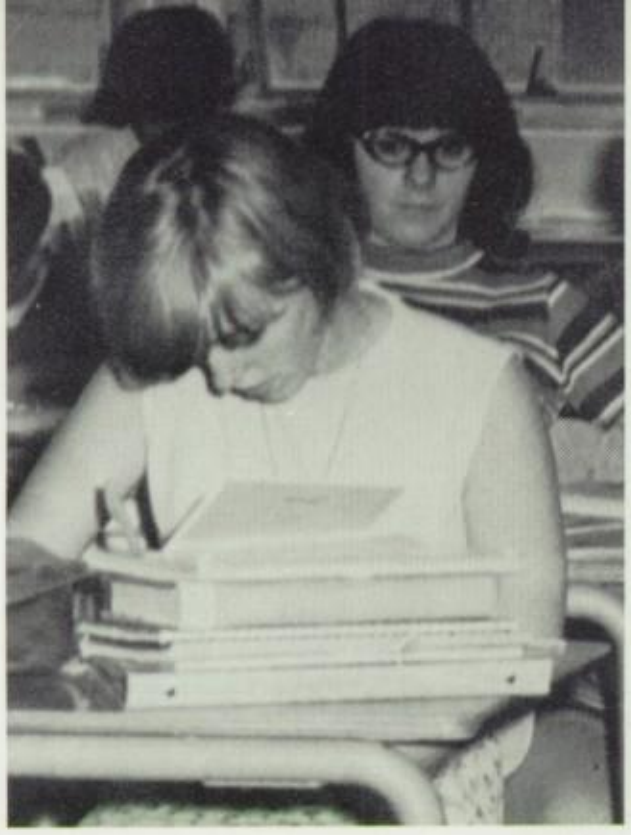
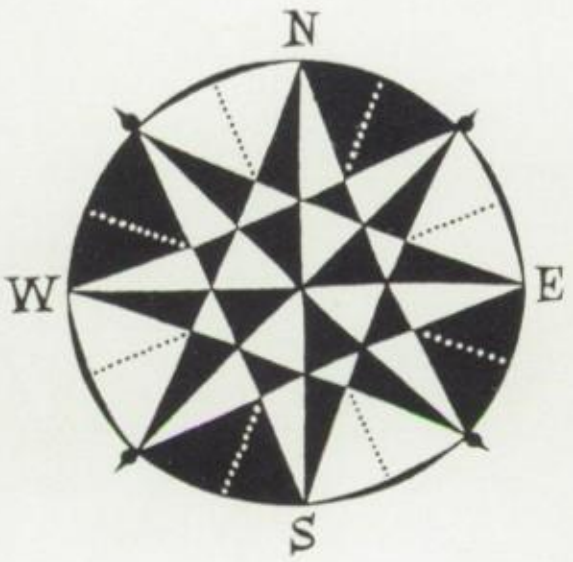
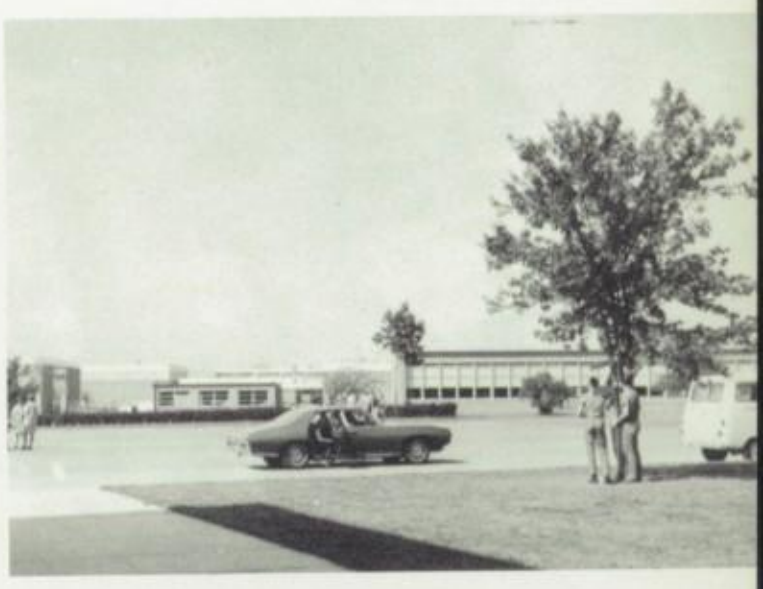
It matters not how long you live, but how!

Senior class flower.



At Cocalico life revolves around the different aspects of education. We all view the classroom as the center of learning, but classes like art, music or typing develop our special talents while an important part of the curriculum is the development of physical abilities in an athletic program. To us, the most important part of school life is being with friends and gradually learning to accept others' feelings. However, we cannot forget another major aspect of education--our teachers. Thus, classes, athletics, friends, and teachers form the core of Cocalico.





No matter what direction we take at Cocalico, we can find the school divided like a compass into four points--north, south, east and west. In all directions, should represent the students. Here we find ourselves learning in the classroom, chattering through the halls or practicing "Behind the Wheel." We are often privileged to help in a learning situation when student teachers are assigned to Cocalico. It is through our education at Cocalico that we are able to establish goals for ourselves in all directions as we pursue our chosen course after graduation.

On September 6, 205 freshman "invaded" the halls of the Cocalico Senior High. Although they encountered different surroundings, unfamiliar teachers, and challenging new courses they adjusted quickly. When they had settled into the 1967-68 school year they began to make plans for their first fund-raising project--selling pens. During basketball season, they decided to sell refreshments at junior high school games. With these successful projects behind them, they are looking into the future in search of more challenging projects. They were bound to be a success this year due to the excellent leadership offered by their officers: Doug Firestone, president; Sidney Walmer, vice-president; Pat Leid, secretary-treasurer; and their class advisor, Mr. John Rice.

What is a senior?

A senior is expected to know what he wants to be the rest of his life while adults still don't even know what they want to be. R. Pannebecker

A senior is someone who is too old to believe that the world can be made perfect but is too young to stop trying. H. Mellinger

Being a senior is fun to look forward to and back upon, but not to be. N. Eberly

A senior is a baby taking his first step.

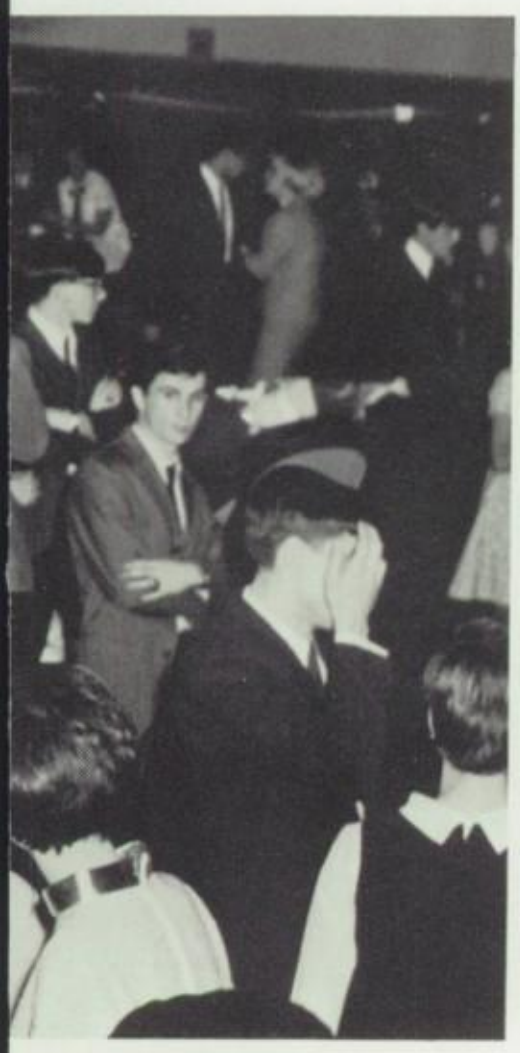
M. White

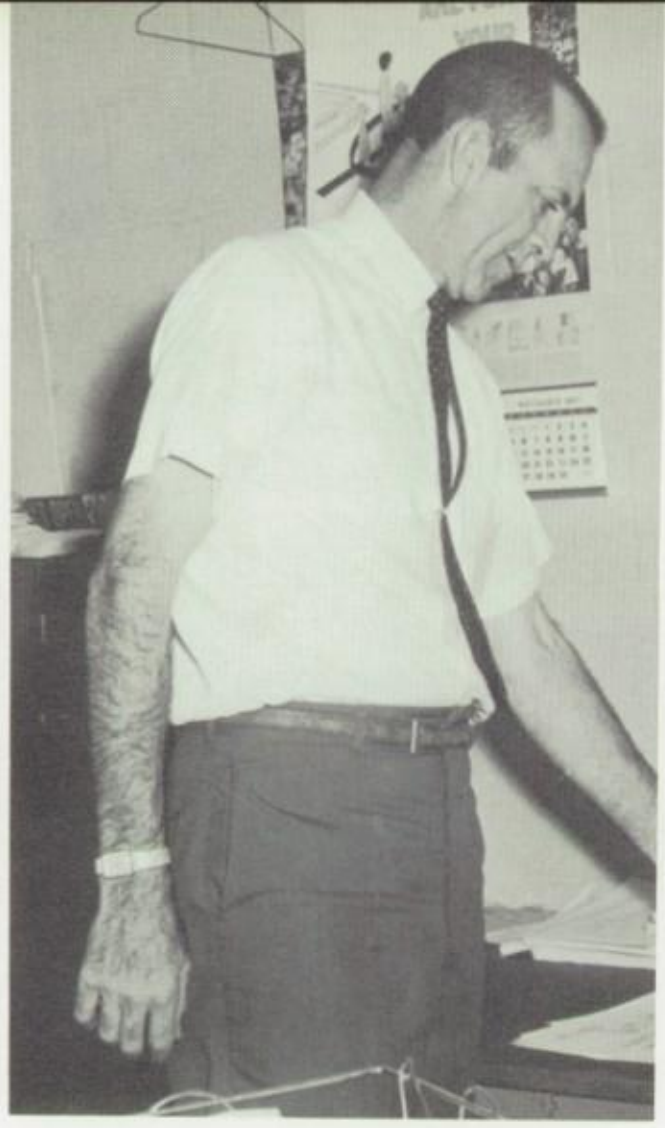
A senior is a person who campaigns for more responsibility but rarely fully accepts the ones he already has.

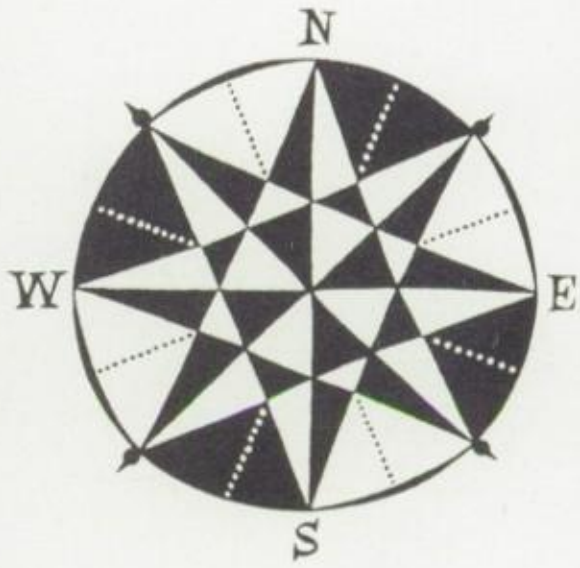
C. Leid

A senior prepares himself for the future, just like a squirrel gathers nuts for the winter.

D. Slabach







South, another major direction of the compass, is also a major direction at Cocalico. Our south stands for the faculty and administration who supply "direction in education." The teachers spend many hours planning and preparing daily lessons and long-range courses of study. They also volunteer extra hours in order to provide a variety of activities for the students. Many serve as coaches for our athletic teams while others may devote time to directing class plays and sponsoring clubs.

The school board, which consists of elected members, decides the governing policies for the school district. This legislative organization manages the certification and salaries of the teachers and stabilizes the annual school taxes. The board discusses and acts upon essential legislation and endorses plans for new school buildings. Mr. C. Behrendt, the Superintendent of Schools, counsels the board. The secretary, Mrs. H. Knerr, accurately records the minutes while board President Rev. H. Minnich presides over each meeting.

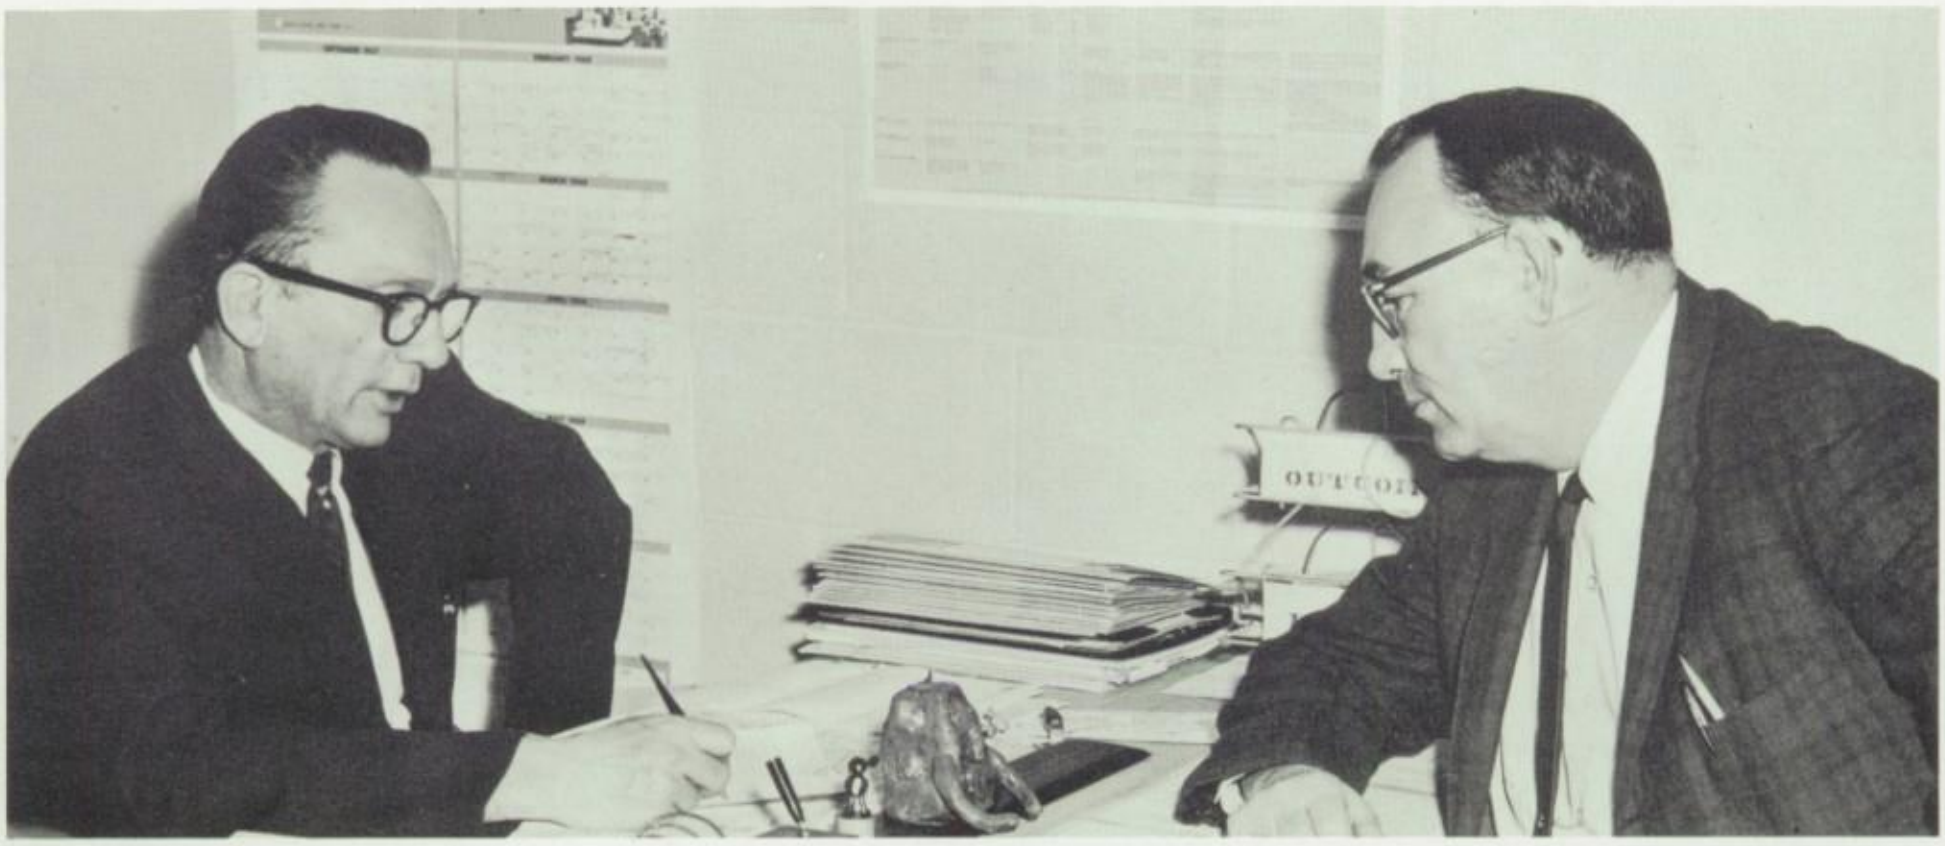
The Wednesday morning administrative meeting involves: Mr. Kenneth Flinchbaugh, Mr. A. Reid Stoner, Mr. Barry Miller, Mr. Clifford



Mr. Roger Care

Mr. George Richards

Mr. Behrendt, Superintendent of Schools; Mr. Miller, Administrative Assistant; Mr. Weaver, senior high school principal; Mr. Flinchbaugh, junior high school principal; Mr. Stoner, and Mrs. Wingenroth, elementary principals work together toward a more efficient and progressive school. Our principals schedule courses, observe teachers and attend meetings as part of their yearly schedule. Mr. Care and Mr. Richards, our guidance counselors, work behind-the-scenes to guide students in the selection of curriculum and in the location of colleges or jobs. All of our administrators and counselors work hard to maintain a high quality of education at Cocalico.

Behrendt, Mrs. Martha Wingenroth, and Mr. Homer Weaver.

Mr. Barry Miller

Secretary: Miss Barbara Miller
Miss Diane Long

Mrs. Merla Hulshizer: Nurse

Maintenance: E. Fahnestok, J. Mowery, J. Althouse, H. Stauffer, W. Adams.

In addition to their regular duties of assisting the guidance counselors and Mr. Weaver, Miss Miller and Mrs. Long supply general information for the students. The secretaries also type tests and mimeograph copies for the teachers. As students we often overlook those persons whom we do not encounter in the classroom. Deserving more recognition than they receive, these staff members perform valuable services for students and teachers. All of these people work behind the scenes to keep our school operating efficiently.

Members of the Mathematics Department include Mr. Myers, Mr. Stephens, and Mr. Lutz, Chairman. They instruct their classes in logical reasoning. Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Trignometry are offered to the college preparatory students while the more general curriculums elect General Math.

In addition to instructing their classes, these teachers also serve as club sponsors and sports coaches. A new course has been added to the physical education program this year. The Adaptive Physical Education Course includes any student with a disability limiting him from the regular physical education classes. Home Economics students learn to cook foreign foods while several students enter a sewing contest sponsored by the Denver Women's Club. In elective art students learn to work with ceramics, oil painting, mobiles, and weaving.

Cocalico offers such science courses as Earth and Space Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Earth and Space Science, taught to the freshmen, concerns paleontology, astronomy, and topography. Biology, a sophomore course, delves into ecology, bio-chemistry, evolution, classification, and reproduction. Juniors may elect Chemistry which deals with the make-up of substance and the changes that take place in them while the more advanced science of Physics, offered for seniors, explains the "how" and "why" of the non-living world.

The English department at Cocalico High School places more emphasis on literature rather than a formal study of grammar. The freshman and sophomore general literature courses include two works by Shakespeare, "Romeo and Juliet" and "Julius Caesar". The junior classes discuss the movements in American literature along with such novels as THE RED BADGE OF COURAGE and THE SCARLET LETTER.

Seniors enjoy the works of English authors, including the Shakespearean play "Hamlet". Juniors and seniors may also learn more and better methods of writing by taking the composition course.

The Foreign Language division of the Language Arts Department teaches the art of speaking a language and learning the customs of a country. Later, the students are taught to read and write the language.

"Direction through interest" indicates the variety of activities offered to Cocalico students regardless of their abilities. Dances and the student-faculty basketball games are only a few of the interesting activities. Specific occasions include the annual FTA Christmas Party.

Sec.: Ruth Ann Eberly, Treas.: Patricia Ansel, Advisor: Mrs. Hulshizer, Vice Pres.: Sandra Terwilliger, President: Ruby Pannebecker.

Through volunteer work at the Ephrata Hospital, and assisting in Health Room activities, the Future Nurses acquaint themselves with background material and explore the opportunities and requirements in the field of Nursing.

As advisor, Mr. Pfeiffer introduces the club members to the teaching profession through a variety of activities, including visitation to a local college and cadet teaching. During club periods members sometimes hold discussions with teachers, Cocalico graduates, and administrators from various colleges. The club hosts the Faculty Tea and "Back to School Night" and provides babysitting at basketball games for children of faculty members. Before Christmas the club members organized a Christmas party for pre-school children.

President: Jean Schaeffer, Vice President: Sigrid Molkentin, Historian: Deborah Miller, Secretary: Joan Zerbe, Advisor: Mr. Walter Pfeiffer, Treasurer: Pat Martzall.

SEATED: Advisor: Mr. Paul Gensemer. STANDING: Sergeant at arms: Spencer Stober, Secretary: Diana Witman, President: Glen Wenger, Vice-President: James Longenecker, Treasurer: Barry Hurst.

Our governmental organization, Student Council, encourages the practice of good citizenship. Through their student orientation program the club helps new students to adjust to Cocalico. They also operate the school store and sponsor foreign exchange students. Other activities include dances, faculty teas, and the Homecoming program.

Vice-President: Jolynn Pfautz, Treasurer: Anna Snader, Secretary: Luciene Burkenheiser, Historians: Bonita Shirk, Mary Fasnacht, Advisor: Mrs. Virginia Doherty, President: Donna Mohler.

As a chapter club, F.H.A. furthers interest in home economics and promotes good will to all. Some of the club's activities include: going to the Harrisburg State Farm Show, selling fudge, working toward degrees, and having a fashion show. This year the club made Christmas toys for the Millersville Home.

Advisor: Mr. Belt, Sergeant at arms: Ashley Steffy, Chaplain: John Anderson, Secretary: Dave Slabach, Treasurer: Glenn Wenger, President: Mike Bezler, Vice President: Craig Leid.

Hi-Y Club creates, maintains, and extends a high standard of Christian character throughout the school and community. Hayrides, swimming, and hockey games are among some of the clubs activities. Members held a clothing drive and sponsored the Sample Fair as their service projects.

Through a wide variety of activities, members of Tri-Hi-Y promote Christian fellowship throughout school and community. Officers include: President, Debbie Weaver; Vice-President, Peggy Care; Secretary, Jane Derr; Treasurer, Donna Styer; and Chaplain, Sandy Hassler. The advisor is Mrs. Rebecca Campbell.

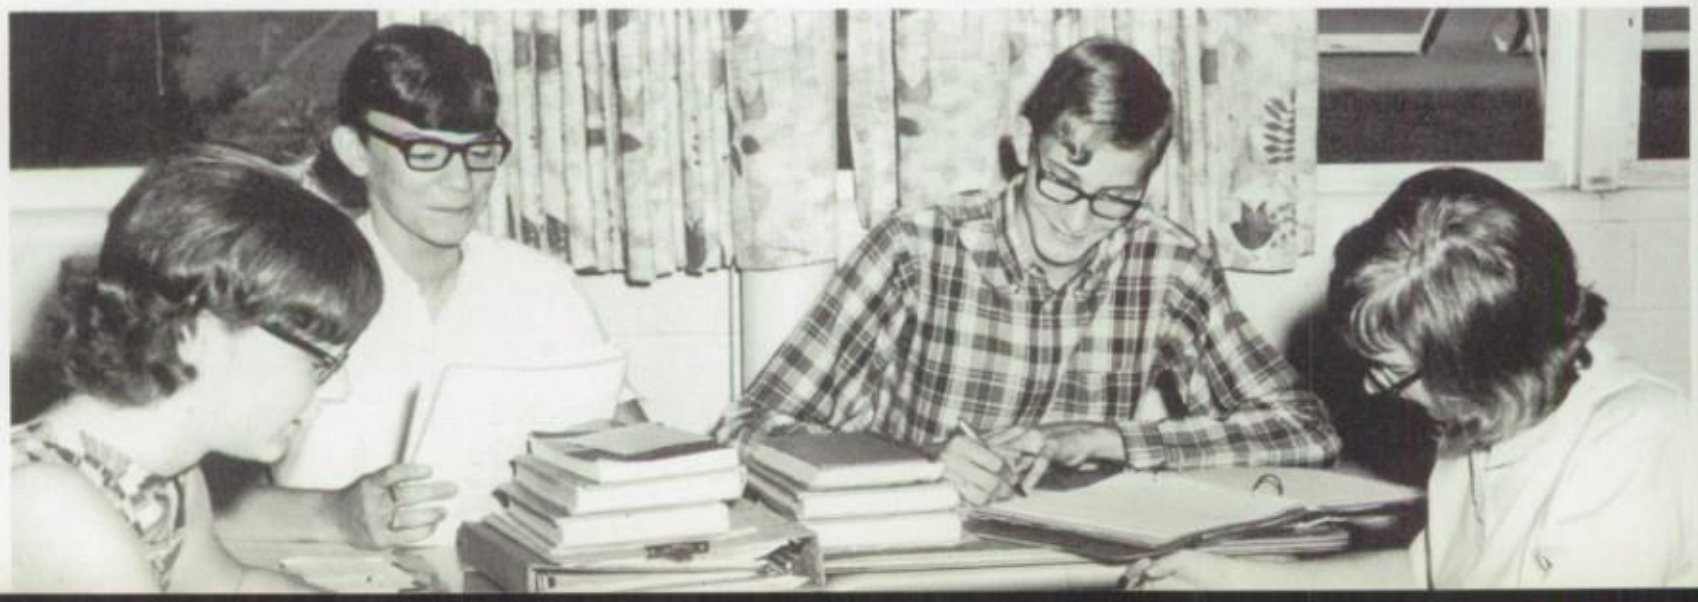
In addition to the senior editors, the staff now includes tenth and eleventh grade apprentices who assist the editors. While they learned yearbook skills, the apprentices helped to promote the sales and publicity campaigns. Publishing a yearbook requires many long hours of work by interested people. Working on the yearbook includes laying out the pages, writing and typing copy, taking pictures, sending the final copy to the printers, and crossing one's fingers. Without the diligent efforts of the "Ko-Ka-Le-Ko" staff, the school would not have a book which recalls the fond memories of each year.



This club publishes "The Eagle." The newspaper publication is in its 13th year and a new feature, "Looking Back," has been added this past September. The staff includes students of all the senior high classes who diligently work to insure the complete coverage of all aspects of school life.

Cocalico's Concert Band makes up in quality what it seems to lack in quantity. This year's fifty-six member band, under the direction of Mr. Markus Schneiderhan, plans to arrange an exchange concert with Conestoga Valley High School sometime in May. Besides the exchange concert, two other concerts will be presented here at Cocalico. The band also participated in two parades. They like to play a well-rounded selection of music from the classic PRELUDE AND FUGUE by Bach to the oriental sound of THE KING AND I.

The Cocalico High School Marching Band consisted of fifty-six members, ten color guard, and thirteen majorettes. The band performed at the football games, in the fall, using five various shows with precisioned marching drills. Under the direction of Calvin Sweigart, drum major, the band marched in the New Holland and Ephrata parades, the Halloween, and Memorial Day parades. The band has purchased new uniforms for the next school year.

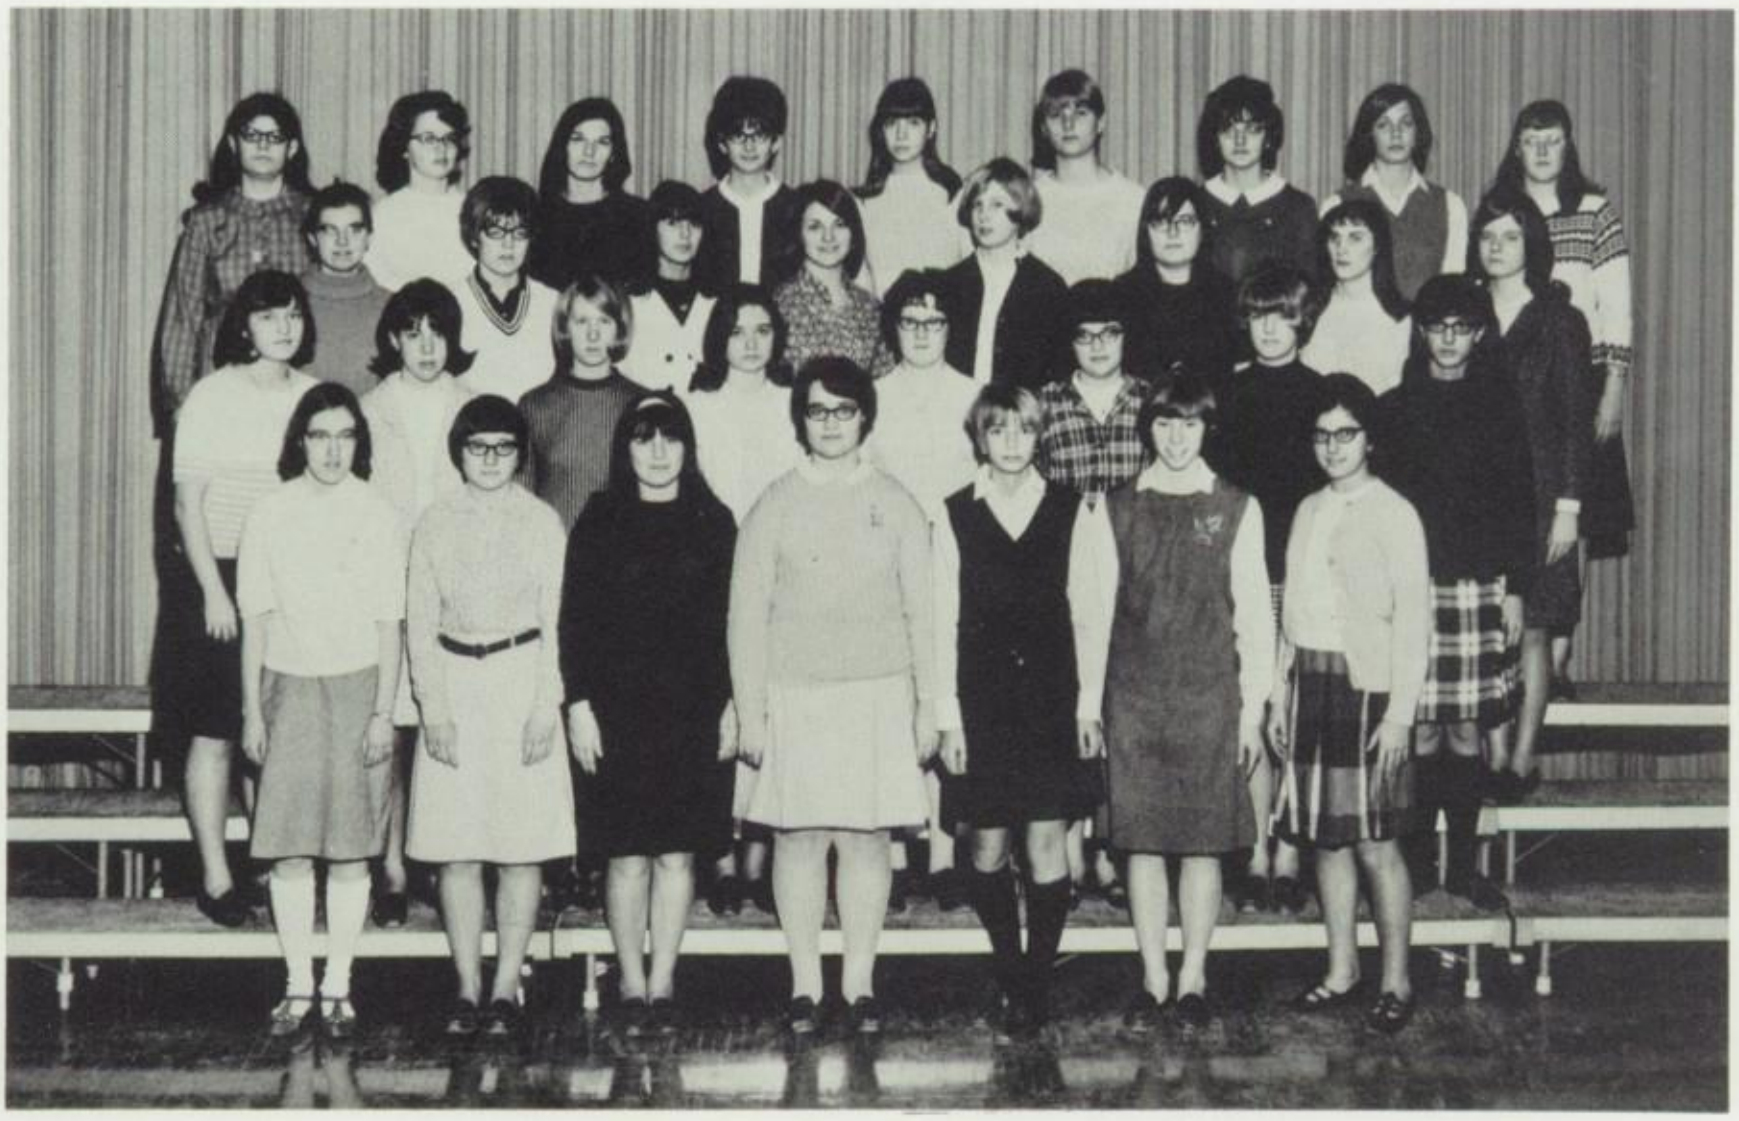
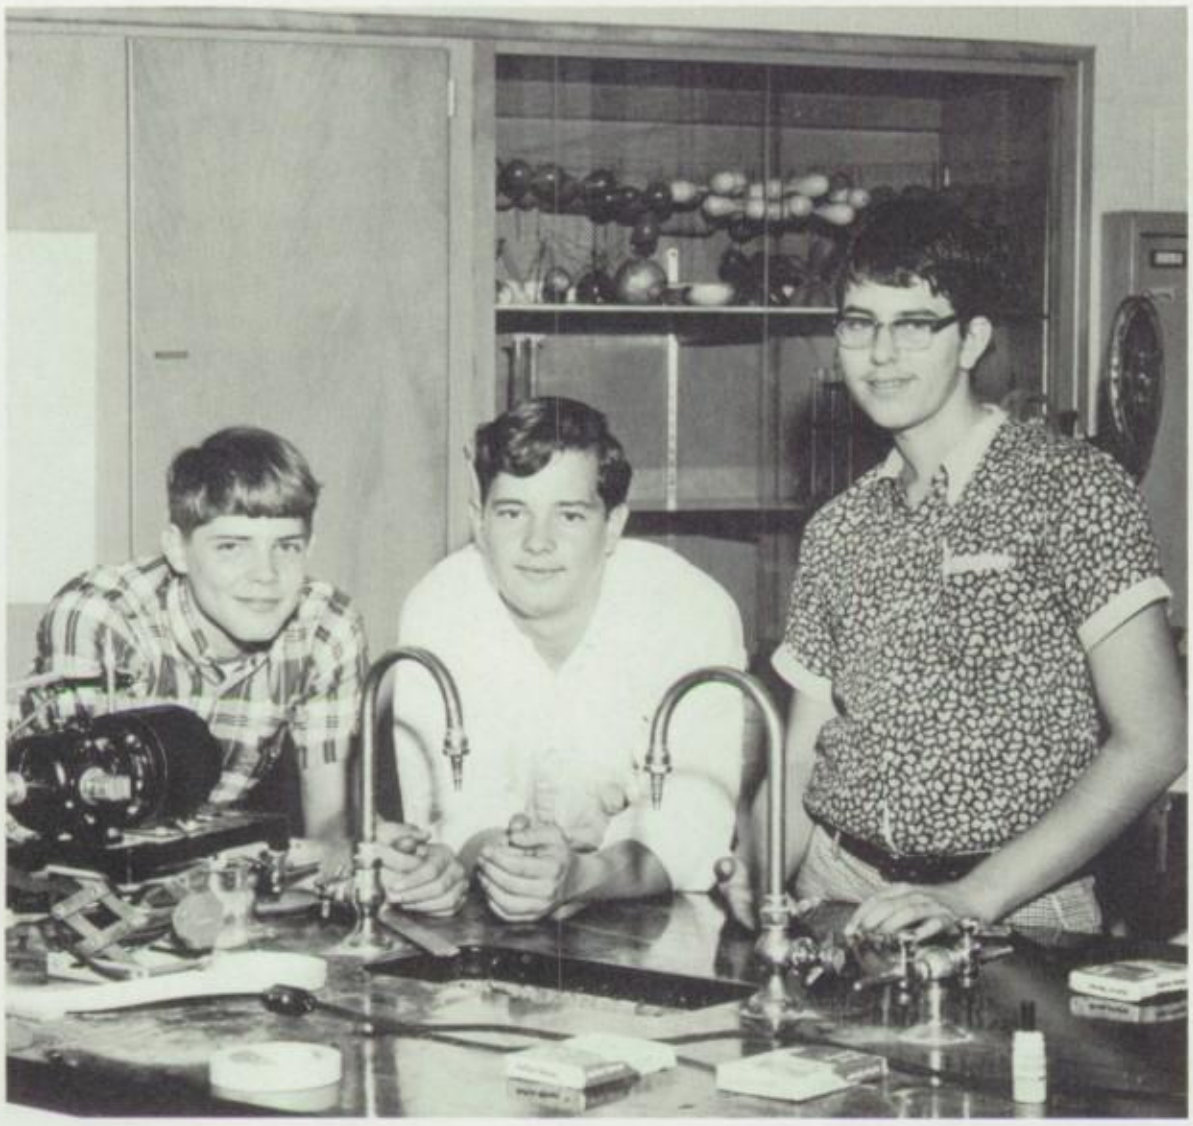
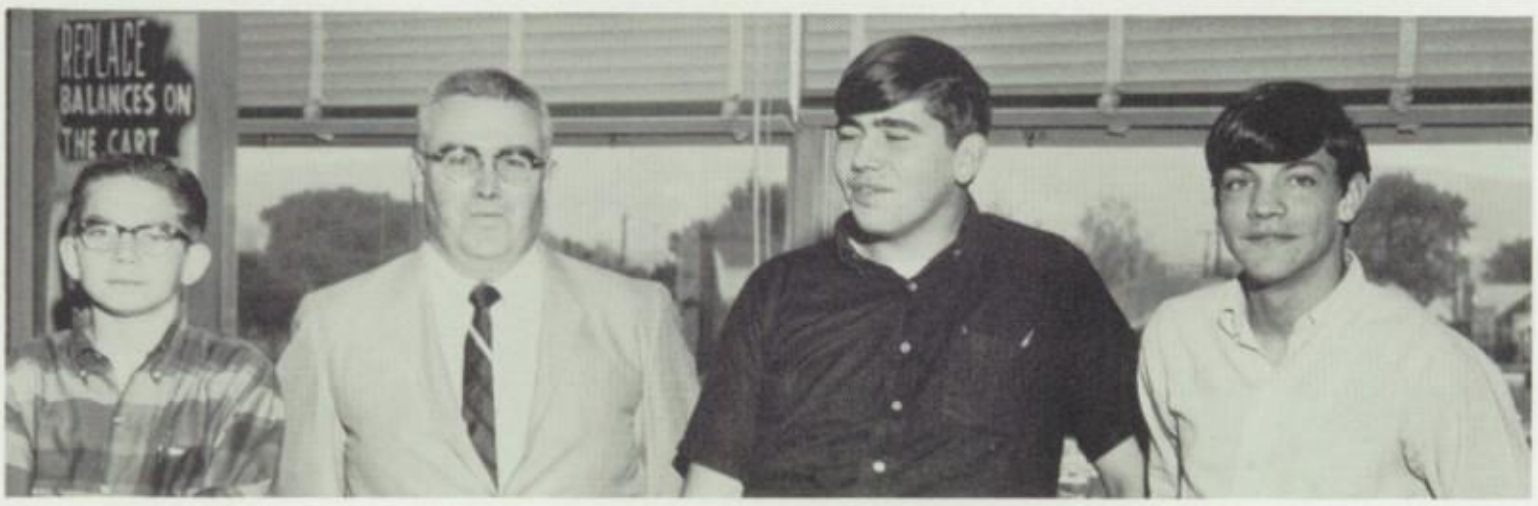
The Senior High Chorus and the Girls' Chorus comprise an important part of the music department. Learning various vocal techniques, the members sing many different types of music by several composers. For the school assemblies on holidays, using a variety of arrangements, these groups sing appropriate musical selections. The choruses also offer entertainment at our spring concert. The most talented members are also selected to participate in the county and district choruses.



Projectionists: Secretary-Treasurer: Dennis Mohn, Advisor: Mr. Smaltz, Vice President: Robert Cox, President: Jeff Moyer.

Science Club provides an opportunity for members to study science on an individual basis. During club periods, members do research using various types of scientific equipment. Projectionists learn how to use and service audio visual equipment. By showing motion pictures and film strips during the club period, the members practice and can perform this service for the teachers in the classroom. Mr. Smaltz advises both clubs.





Science Club: Vice President: Myron Zimmerman, Advisor: Mr. Smaltz, Secretary-Treasurer: David McGarvey, President: Randy Burkholder.

Boy's Leaders Club stimulates school spirit and encourages leadership. The members are given the opportunity to instruct gym classes by assisting Mr. Henry. The club sponsored the Ephrata and Cocalico faculty basketball game this year.

Secretary: John Anderson, Treasurer: Clifford Good, President: Craig Leid, Vice President: David Slaback. STANDING: Advisor: Mr. Spencer Henry.

Treasurer: Peggy Care, Sergeant at Arms: Carol Kauffman, President: Mary Himmelberger, Secretary: Connie Shaffer, Vice President: Jane Derr, Advisor: Mrs. Suzanne Wood.

The purpose of this club is to promote leadership, citizenship and a greater knowledge of skills and activities involved in physical education. During one of their study halls the girls may volunteer to assist Mrs. Wood with her gym classes. Some of the club's activities included a doggie roast, the Sadie Hawkins' Day Dance, and a camp out in the late spring.

SEATED: President: Harry Mellinger. STANDING: Vice-President: Curtis Frita, Secretary-Treasurer: Robert Garman, Advisor: Mr. Stephens.

Mr. Stephens, the club advisor, teaches the members to play chess. Tournaments within the club membership improve each player's ability.

Historian: Richard Bair, President: Diane Good, Vice-President: Linda Hill, Treasurer: Sandy Hart, Publicity: Donna Wenrich, Secretary: Marion Sweigart, Advisor: Miss Rathje.

Members assist in the operation of the school library. Some of their activities include giving books to hospitalized classmates, children in hospitals, Heart Haven, and orphans' homes, and sponsoring second-hand book sales. As their big project for the year members plan to collect and distribute paperback books to children's wards in hospitals at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

To encourage school spirit, members help the cheerleaders make signs and participate in the cheering section at sports' activities. Their major project for this year was selling booster pins to enthusiastic Cocąlico students.

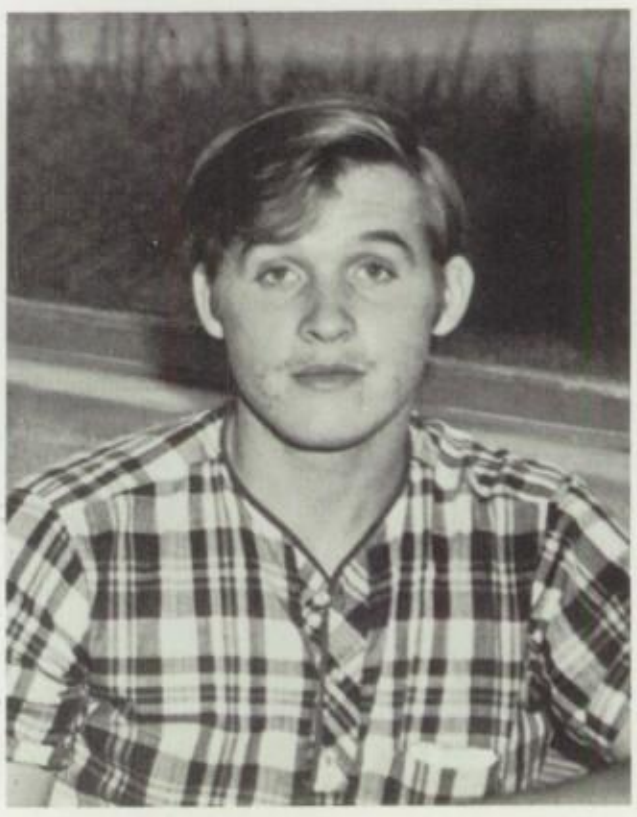
Advisor: Mr. Spencer Henry, President: John Sise, Vice-President: Melinda Schweitzer, Treasurer: Mike Gunselman, Secretary: Connie Gensemer.

Advisor: Mr. Ned Foltz, President: Mike Mohler, Vice President: Donna Deuel, Treasurer: Linda Ludwig, Secretary: Andrea Schreiner.

Members of the poster club make posters for other clubs, classes, and activities. Under the direction of Mr. Foltz the club members make group art projects such as mosaics, paintings, and sculptures. As their major project for the year, the members have decided to make a large mosaic for display outside the art room.

On the night of the class plays, members of the Theater Arts Club operate the curtains, render sound effects, and arrange stage scenery. So that they are able to assist at the assemblies, Mr. Hill instructs the members to operate the electrical equipment behind the stage.

President: Kerry Palsgrove, Vice-President: Gary Bair, Secretary: Irvin Zook, Advisor: Mr. Robert Hill.



The purpose of this club is to learn to appreciate the art of cooking. Under the guidance of Mrs. Doherty, the members plan menus, then cook both the simple, and the complicated dishes. Since the club was formed this year for the first time, the group has not scheduled any service projects or a special activity for the school year but they have concocted some strange dishes, rumored to be Oriental in origin.

SEATED: Vice-President: Rick Landis. STANDING: Secretary: Bruce Wagner, President: John Wenzel, Advisor: Mrs. Virginia Doherty, Treasurer: Robert Poole.

Designed to develope competent business leadership, members acquaint themselves with business trends. Activities include field trips and the making and selling of candy and subs. Serving the community, F.B.L.A. members make bean bags for children's homes, and send packages to orphan children in Viet Nam.

To develop an understanding of popular music, members practice and discuss music during club periods. The Dance Band also provides entertainment at some of the school functions.

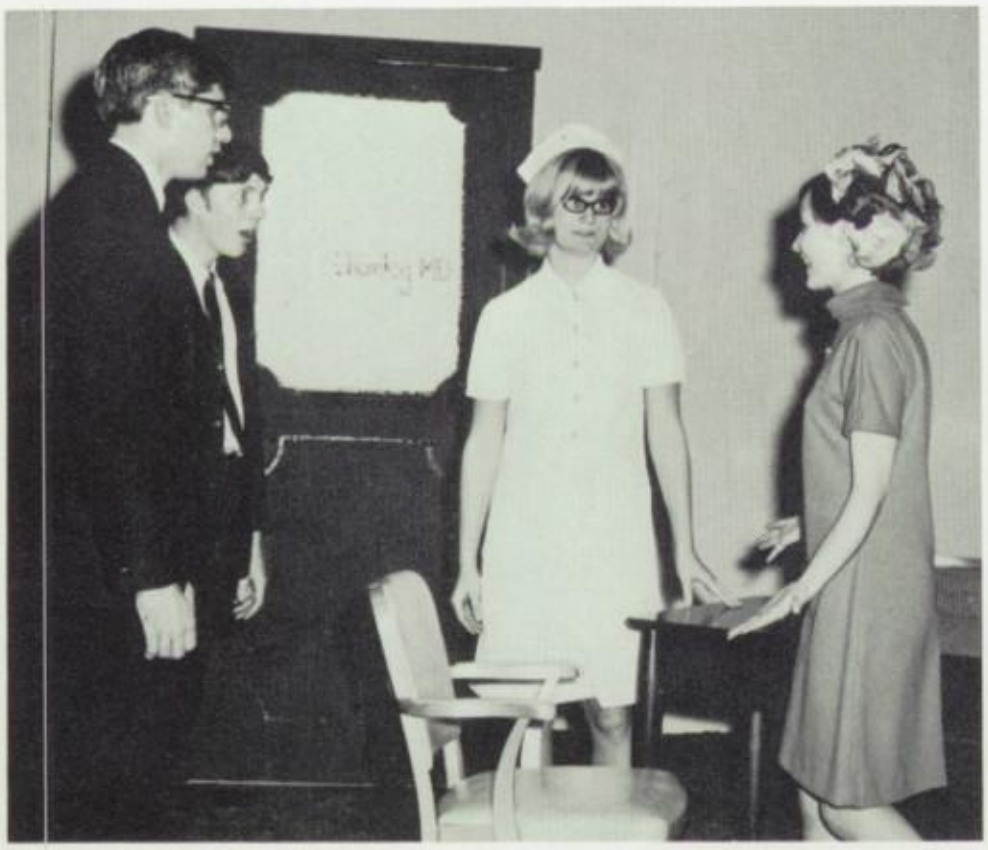
Homecoming, sponsored by the Student Council, is an annual event at Cocalico. During a ceremony before the November 10 football game, James Longenecker crowned Colleen Shimp as Cocalico's 1967 Homecoming Queen. In honor of the Queen and to welcome the alumni, a dance, featuring the Soulistics, was held in the high school gymnasium.

When Lorilei Lee (Nancy Mountz) and her friend Dorothy (Becky McQuate) are faced with disappointment concerning their trip to Europe, the blonde Lorelei decides to take things into her own hands and persuade her father (Jay Althouse) to let them take the cruise to Europe without a chaperone. On board the girls met the wealthy Henry Spafferd III (Sid White) and his Mother (Roxann Showalter). A mix-up in caring for the travelers checks and other elements of confusion cause the girls to be thrown into the grasp of Lorelei's Aunt Dolly (Debbie Weaver and Joanne Ansel). Nothing seems to be solved until Mr. Lee sails for France and sets everything back in the right perspective.

Glenda Sweigart, Cindy Luckenbill, Susie Binkley consult with stage managers Lee Buffenmyer and Ken Eshelman concerning the lights for the Junior Class Play.

The class of '68 presented HARVEY, a three act play with Sam Swartz and Sandy Terwilliger portraying the main characters. Under the direction of Mr. Daniel Brensinger and student directress Marie Mohn, the comedy starred fourteen of the many dramatically talented seniors. The packed auditorium proved to the seniors that a well-performed play had been produced. The setting for the play is Chumley's Rest, a sanitarium, and the Dowd Mansion, the home of Elwood P. Dowd, his sister, Veta Simmons, and her daughter, Myrtle Mae Simmons. Harvey, an imagined six foot white rabbit, arrived and caused many embarrassing moments for Mrs. Simmons and her daughter.



On May 17, 1968, the Cocalico High School gymnasium took on the aspects of the stage setting for "Kismet" as juniors, seniors and their guests danced to the music of Saxie Schollenberger. The juniors had chosen the "Arabian Nights" theme and the long hours of planning and decorating had produced a romantic setting for students and faculty who attended the prom. Harem girls and servant boys shuffled back and forth from the punch bowl to the coat check room. Their oriental costumes added just the touch to make the illusion reality.

The mood changed slightly when the "Idyllic Spectrum" entertained the guests at the post-prom until 4:00 A.M.

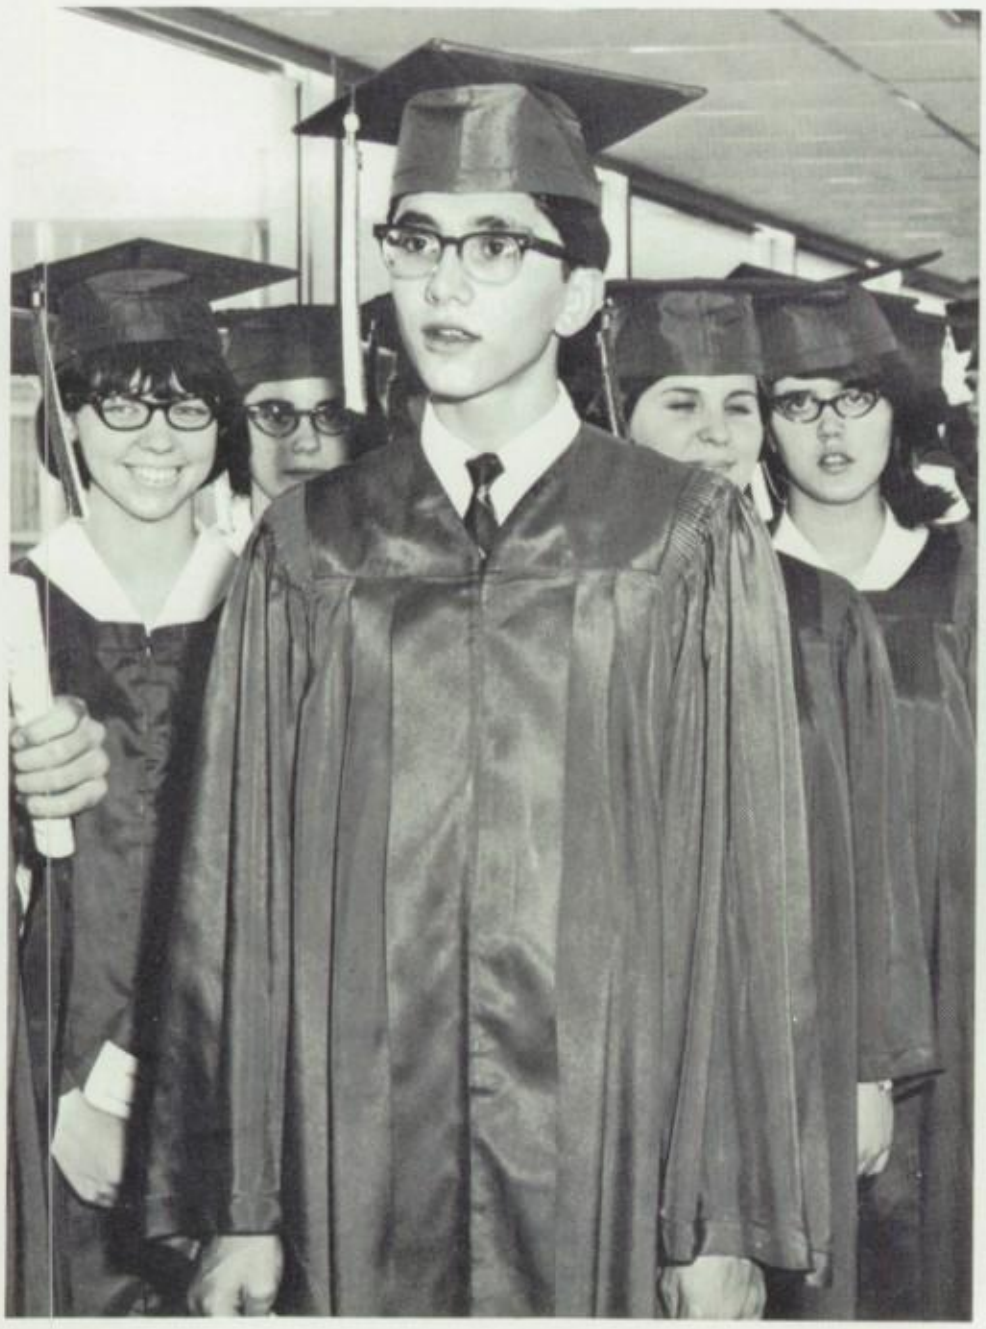
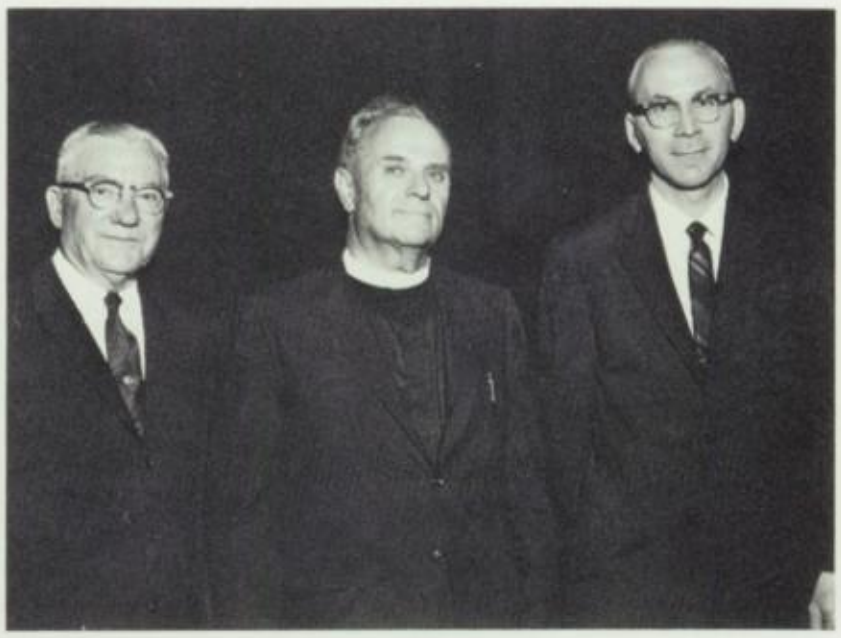
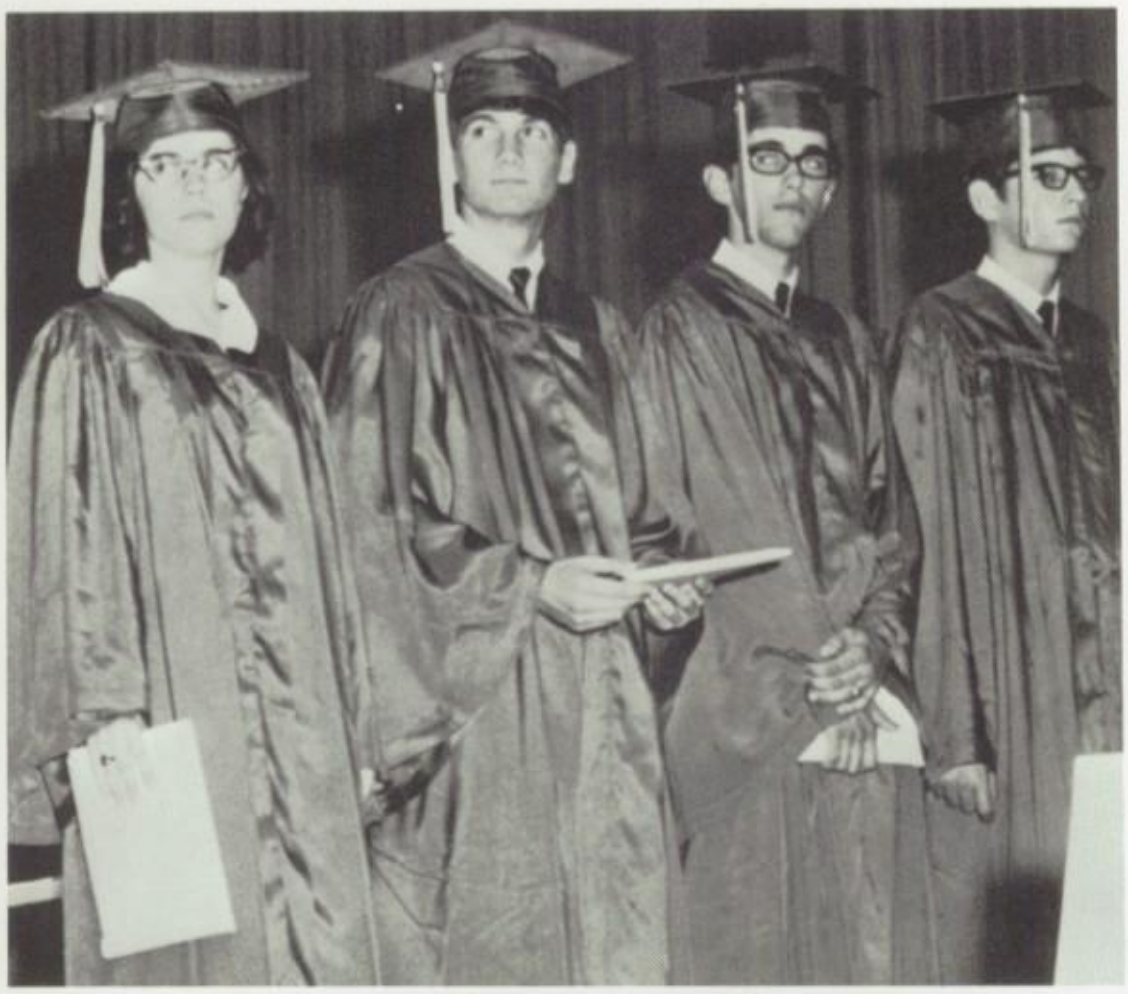
Baccalaureate services on June 2, marked the beginning of graduation exercises for the class of 1968. On June 5, Mr. Homer Weaver called the roll while Rev. Harold Minnich president of the school board, presented the diplomas to 124 graduating seniors. Randy Good, Barry Hurst, and Fern Shupp addressed the class, parents, relatives, faculty and school board members who packed the aduitorium at 7:30. To the members of the senior class the highlight of the meeting occurred when Mr. Behrendt declared them alumni of Cocalico.







Fern Shupp, Barry Hurst, Randy Good, and James Longenecker gave speeches in the commencement exercises.

West, the compass point representing our sports section, denotes "action in every direction." Many students forget that physical development is as important as mental growth. Through our athletic program, participants learn various skills and techniques, as well as good sportsmanship. Girls may try for coveted positions on the hockey and tennis squads. Football, baseball, track, tennis, wrestling, golf and basketball provide a varied program for the boys. Mrs. Wood and Mr. Henry provide a diversified intramural program for interested Cocalico students.

The cheerleaders play an important part in the athletic program. Cheering at sporting events, they promote school spirit and encourage good sportsmanship. The girls also make signs and hang them throughout the school to remind the students to support the Cocalico teams. To pertect their skills, the cheerleaders often practice after school. This year their hard work proved worthwhile when the girls won the County Cheerleading Contest. With the help of Mrs. Suzanne Wood, the cheerleaders created an original cheer and movements which demonstrated their cheering ability. The girls should be commended for their fine performance all year long.

Miss Joan Kautz, Mrs. Rebecca Campbell.

Although Cocalico's hockey team did not have a winning season, they accomplished more than they had expected with a 2-3-2 record. Mrs. Campbell, the new head coach, did an excellent job with her varsity and anticipates a good record next year. Another new coach, Miss Kautz headed the junior varsity squad. Long, hard practices produced a skilled, competent team. Because only three seniors are leaving, next year's squad will have the experience they need for a successful season.

Mr. Duck, the new head coach of our football squad, has improved our team in many ways. He impressed upon them the use of better tactics and the importance of morale. Because of Mr. Duck's direction and the team's desire to comprehend techniques, they have shown definite improvement over their performance in previous years. Their record for this year was 2-8. With the school's support and the team's desire to win, improvement in future year's is almost certain.

In the Christmas Tournament at Governor Mifflin High School, our wrestling team finished second of four schools with Sam Swartz and Jeff Moyer as tournament champions. With the assistance of Mr. Campbell, Mr. Hall coached the team to a record of six wins and seven losses including two non-league matches. At Lancaster County Sectionals, held at F & M College, Sam Swartz and Spencer Stober, Cocalico's final representatives, were eliminated on the third day of the sectionals.

Under the leadership of the new head coach Mr. Spencer Henry, the Cocalico Eagles captured third place in the section two league with a record of eight wins and four losses. The highlight of the basketball season thrilled the fans when the Eagles won a spectacular victory during the Holiday Tournament. During the first annual North Lebanon Basketball Tournament, the Cocalico Eagles ran Manheim Central off the court when they broke the game wide open in the first quarter by taking a 15-4 lead. Cocalico expects an even better overall record next year after the encouraging season the team had this year.

Because of the increased interest shown this year, Coach Edward McIlmoyle feels that the track team will have an improved season over last year's. This year's team will count heavily on the leadership of returning standouts such as high jumping John Rutt, Barry Hurst on the hurdles and Calvin Sweigart who runs the quarter mile. To accompany these upperclassmen there is a fine crop of freshmen. Thus far, the freshmen have turned in fine times and have shown good form.

For the members of the tennis teams, spring is not a time of leisure. Practice sessions, starting about a month before the season, contain many skill-building exercises to build confidence as well as ability. Competition is keen as each member struggles for a position on the playing ladder. Continuous hard work accompanied by determination converts individual efforts into team cooperation.

SPERRY RAND

SYMBOL
REASON FOR PRIDE

Seeing a son or daughter graduate from high school represents one of a parent's proudest moments. Many men and women who work for New Holland Division of Sperry Rand Corporation are experiencing such pride this spring. And the company shares in their satisfaction.

We hope all graduates will be proud of themselves, too. For most of them, earning a diploma is one of the greatest achievements in their lives so far. At least, it should be.

New Holland offers its heartiest congratulations to all graduating seniors. Wherever your interests or inclinations may lead you now, we hope you have continuing achievements and many more reasons to be proud.
